

9th Annual Doctoral Student's Day

Information Science and Communication Studies

Geriico Laboratory

Tuesday, April 15th2014

University of Lille 3, Villeneuve d'Ascq France

A PhD thesis is a period of scientific growth rich of discoveries: discovering a discipline, a research laboratory, a research team... In addition, PhD students in Information Science and Communication Studies work on a wide variety of objects: documents, information behaviour, knowledge management, media studies, cultural mediation or corporate communication. This diversity of approaches, research subjects, and research fields is part of the wealth of these disciplines. But this variety can create distance between students working in different research teams or fields, who have only rare opportunities to exchange about their work.

The 9th a c a d a c d a c d a of Lille 3 (Geriico Laboratory), who wish to communicate and exchange about their research themes, theoretical and epistemological issues, and methodological reflections, with students from other universities.

The call for participation, therefore, is available in English and French. The meeting shall include oral presentations while speakers will benefit from the feedback of Geriico laboratory researchers.

Call for papers

All PhD students working in the field of Information Science and Communication or Media Studies, whatever his or her year of enrollment, are invited to participate. Discussions will cover the following topics:

- Research question
- Material and methods
- Theory
- Expected result

All research topics and approaches are welcome

Deadlines

The proposed paper (500 words) should be submitted by email to jjc.geriico@gmail.com before March 17th 2014. Guidelines for your talk (time limits, schedule) will be sent by March 21th 2014.

Languages of the 9 th Annual Doctoral Student's Day

English and French

Organisation Committee (PhD students, Geriico laboratory)

Andlauer Leticia
Azouz Kaouther
Boujema Cédric
Dubard Alice
Gawin Geoffroy
Kane Aminata
Lopez Rocio
Micheau Béatrice
Stassin Bérengère

Contact : jjc.geriico@gmail.com